Research purpose:

Expected project duration:

3. Permitted Use

The recipient may use SCNUED for non-commercial research, education, benchmarking, and publication of aggregate scientific findings, provided that this agreement and any applicable institutional ethics requirements are followed.

4. Restrictions

The recipient must not:

- redistribute, sell, sublicense, upload, or otherwise share the raw BDF files with third parties;
- attempt to identify, contact, profile, or re-identify any participant;
- use the dataset for commercial products, clinical diagnosis, medical decision-making, employment decisions, insurance decisions, or surveillance;
- publish participant-level raw data or derivatives that allow reconstruction of participant-level EEG recordings;
- remove dataset attribution, license notices, or QC notes.

5. Data Security

The recipient must store the data in a secure research environment, limit access to authorized project members, and delete local copies when they are no longer needed for the approved research purpose.

6. Publications and Citation

Publications using SCNUED must acknowledge SCNUED and cite the associated SCNUED paper. The final citation and DOI should be used once available.

7. No Warranty

SCNUED is provided as-is for research use. The provider does not guarantee fitness for any particular purpose and is not responsible for conclusions drawn from use of the data.
